The spread of new urbanism means neighborhoods with multi-family units are being built next door to single-family homes.

And there's no reason to sacrifice individuality, thanks to the multitude of options builders and developers can achieve using today's vinyl siding. Certified vinyl siding is offered in a wide array of profiles, colors, trims and accessories, allowing for the freedom and flexibility of virtually unlimited design options.

Beautifully versatile. No wonder today's neighborhoods are going with vinyl siding. Make sure it's available in your community.
